The 2012 AMBI Clinical Ethics Conference is a conference in which keynote speakers, guest faculty, and conference participants gather at the Alden March Bioethics Institute in Albany, New York, for a full day of engaging discussions and breakout sessions revolving around a single theme. This year's theme explores women's health issues.

Upon completion of this conference, participants will be able to:

- Discuss the justice or fairness implications in preserving reproductive function when patients have cancer.
- List and explain several clinical ethics dilemmas encountered in home-births.
- Critique the rationale for permitting conscientious objections by healthcare professionals in delivering some services.

This conference will be of interest to institutional ethics committee members, physicians, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, nurses, pharmacists, social workers, chaplains, hospice staff, case managers, lawyers, healthcare facility administrators, and others interested in healthcare decision making.

Albany Medical College is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The Albany Medical College designates this Live activity for a maximum of 5.75 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

AAPA accepts Category 1 credit from AOACCME, Prescribed credit from AAFP, and AMA Category 1 CME credit for the PRA from organizations accredited by the ACCME.

An application has been filed with the American Academy of Family Physicians. Determination of credit is pending.

Albany Medical Center Hospital is accredited as a provider of continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

This Learning Activity will be awarded 5.4 Continuing Nursing Education Contact Hours.

Tuition includes admission to the conference, the course syllabus, a continental breakfast, breaks, and lunch.

All registrants will receive a confirmation card in the mail or via e-mail. If you do not receive this prior to the conference, please call the Office of CME at (518) 262-5828 to confirm that we have received your information.
