AMBI Student to Speak on Panel at the Conference of the Association for Practical and Professional Ethics

AMBI student Lisa Lee, PhD, MA has been invited to speak on a panel at the 20th Anniversary Conference of the Association for Practical and Professional Ethics in Cincinnati March 3-6, 2011. The panel, “Diversity, Pluralism, Professional Education and Practice Behaviors,” will include professionals from public health, medicine, social work, and philosophy to discuss the development of intellectual pluralism and professional ethics to support self-reflection, awareness, and critical analysis and decision-making regarding personal and community perspectives and resolutions on self-determination. Dr. Lee will present a paper coauthored with Salaam Semaan entitled, “Promoting Ethical Competence in Public Health.”
