Who Should Attend
This program has been designed to be of interest to neonatologists, pediatricians, physician assistants, neonatal nurse practitioners, nutritionists, neonatology fellows, pediatric residents and lactation consultants whose practice involves the delivery of care to preterm infants.

About the Symposium
Every year in the United States preterm delivery affects 1 in every 10 births, or approximately 400,000 births each year. The care of this very vulnerable population of infants has become exceedingly more complicated as survival rates improve. This symposia will provide a comprehensive update on evidence-based neonatal nutritional advances and comprehensive reviews involving probiotics and the infant microbiome, linear growth and neurodevelopment, the impact of antenatal infections on the fetus and newborn infant.

Learning Objectives
At the conclusion of this conference, participants should be able to:
• Review the importance and impact of iron from fetal life to newborn period.
• Discuss the ethical issues in neonatal research.
• Review the long term outcomes in the ELBW infant.
• Discuss the importance of linear growth on neurodevelopment.
